Zurich, Zurich - May 22, 2026 -
IntroDrink.ch, a leading Swiss online retailer of premium natural supplements and wellness products, has expanded its beauty and anti-aging supplement offerings to meet growing consumer demand for science-backed natural health solutions. The expansion includes enhanced collagen formulations, hyaluronic acid supplements, and comprehensive beauty formulas designed to support healthy aging from within.

The Swiss wellness market has experienced significant growth in natural beauty supplements as consumers increasingly seek alternatives to synthetic products. IntroDrink's expanded range addresses this trend by offering bioavailable nutrients that support skin elasticity, hydration, and cellular health through natural compounds including astaxanthin, CoQ10, and OPC grape seed extract.

"Swiss consumers are becoming more educated about the connection between internal nutrition and external beauty," stated a spokesperson from IntroDrink. "Our expanded beauty and anti-aging line reflects the latest research in nutritional science, offering products that work at the cellular level to support healthy aging processes."

The company's approach emphasizes the importance of bioavailability in supplement formulation. Unlike many conventional beauty supplements, IntroDrink's products are designed for optimal absorption, ensuring that nutrients reach the cells where they are needed most. This focus on quality and efficacy has positioned the brand as a trusted source for premium supplements in Switzerland.

Among the IntroDrink bestsellers in the beauty category are collagen peptides that support joint health alongside skin benefits, and combination formulas that pair complementary nutrients for enhanced effectiveness.

The expansion comes as research continues to validate the role of specific nutrients in supporting healthy aging. Studies have shown that supplements containing antioxidants, collagen precursors, and essential fatty acids can help maintain skin structure and function as people age. IntroDrink's formulations incorporate these findings, offering products that align with current scientific understanding.

Beyond beauty supplements, IntroDrink maintains a comprehensive catalog spanning immune support, fitness nutrition, detox products, and natural cosmetics. The company's commitment to natural ingredients extends across all product categories, with options including vegan formulations and organic certified products. The company has also developed comprehensive educational resources, including an IntroDrink omega-3 guide that explains the role of essential fatty acids in maintaining skin health and reducing inflammation associated with aging.

The Swiss online shop also offers curated wellness bundles that combine complementary supplements for specific health goals. These bundles simplify the selection process for consumers seeking comprehensive nutritional support for beauty, energy, immune function, or detoxification.

IntroDrink.ch continues to expand its educational content, providing science-based information about natural health and wellness. The platform serves as both a retail destination and an educational resource for Swiss consumers interested in natural approaches to health maintenance.

Founded with a mission to provide premium natural health products to the Swiss market, IntroDrink has established itself as a trusted source for dietary supplements, superfoods, and natural cosmetics. The company maintains strict quality standards, offering products that are laboratory tested for purity and manufactured according to high production standards.
